

Philosophy of Education

My philosophy is that all children can learn. Each child is a unique individual. I commit to being enthusiastic and encouraging towards them as individuals and what they are learning. In my classroom I will stress social skills as well as academic skills. It is important to encourage students to recognize and respect each other's unique qualities. Each child learns at different rates and in different ways. It is my responsibility to balance that and find the best way of learning for each individual.

Parents are the child's first teachers. I feel their support is essential. I believe that school will be successful if the parents are involved in their children's learning. It takes the parents, school, and teachers working together in a collaborative atmosphere to best benefit the student.

Managing the classroom is one of the most important aspects of being a teacher. The classroom rules will be clearly posted in the room and reinforced in a positive way as needed. The classroom environment will be bright, colorful and have many interactive learning areas as space allows.
